

Message from Editor in Chief of Thai Journal of Gastroenterology 2007-2016

Dear Members,

The second issues of Thai Journal of Gastroenterology 2014, we have the interesting cases from various parasitic infestations in endoscopic corner, and protozoa infections show in pathology corner. These cases are uncommon findings in Western countries. Standard technique for esophagography and upper GI studies imaging is the topic of X-ray corner. This issue presents of case report “fatal acute-on-chronic liver failure from amiodarone toxicity”. Moreover, there are 2 review articles of pancreatitis and pathophysiology of paracetamol overdose. We also have 5 original articles from our GI staff and recently graduated fellows. The topics are various in many areas of GI diseases.

The editorial board still works hard to achieve the difficult task and we have to say many thanks to our team who support and make this journal continuous.

Please send our heartiest congratulations for GI fellows from passing the board examination and please keep in touch with the Gastroenterology Association of Thailand.

Wishing you a position that brings good friends, good health, good luck and good things!

Duangporn Werawatganon, M.D.
